

Figure 2.8. Reflection on Conditions for Meaningful Collaboration

Conditions for Meaningful Collaboration	Next Steps
A culture of collaboration is the norm and that teacher isolation is not permitted.
Teams are provided dedicated collaborative time and expectations for the work and outcomes of collaborative teams are clear, monitored, and celebrated.
The primary work of teacher teams is to examine student learning data, reflect on instructional practice, and share best instructional practices.
Teams have the collective responsibility to develop and implement a response to students who have not learned as well as to those students who have learned.

Figure 2.8. Reflection on Conditions for Meaningful Collaboration

 Visit <http://mathedleadership.org/EAResources> to download a free reproducible version of this figure.